

RYMILL
COONAWARRA

Sauvignon Blanc - Vintage 2008

Detective Loves:

Rymill Coonawarra's 2008 sauvignon blanc. The ripening season was 2°C cooler than usual, releasing exquisite flavours in the grapes.

Judith Elen

Weekend Australian
July 2008

Sauvignon blanc grows surprisingly well at red-dominated Coonawarra. This wine's intense, crisp, tropical flavours point to specialist handling by winemaker John Innes

John Fordham

Sunday Telegraph
August 2008

You'll just love the lifted herbal and gooseberry notes on the bouquet here. Really appealing with the subtle tropical fruit sweetness showing a touch of passionfruit. Fresh and tingly wine that will get the taste buds excited.

Vic Crossland & Ray Jordan

West Australian
August 2008

Everyone knows that Coonawarra produces good red wines – particularly cabernet sauvignon – but the region also turns out some very schmick sauvignon blancs. This one has oodles of refreshing lemongrass and passion fruit flavours.

Max Allen

30 Great Australian Wines

Weekend Australian
August 2008

It is said that the legacy of a perfect summer is captured in every bottle of Rymill Coonawarra's 2008 Sauvignon Blanc. The cool night growing conditions contributed to the balance between the intense flavour and good natural acidity of the grapes. It has a tropical nose that is enhanced with hints of fresh herbs, jasmine and a rounded crisp finish revealing lemon and strawberry. It will be a wine to enjoy on a hot day. Summer is on its way!

Liquor Watch

October 2008

The cool Coonawarra climate keeps Rymill's Sauvignon Blanc in fine, measured shape. This has fragrant aromatics, gentle fruit perfume and subtle cut herbs. The palate is more into the passionfruit spectrum, beld in svelte shape, all crisp and fresh with a closing flurry of herbs.

91 points

WBM

October 2008