COONAWARRA

The Yearling Cabernet Sauvignon – Vintage 2005

The Rymill Coonawarra 2005 The Yearling is one of those versatile good value drops that would be as happy with a barbecue chop as with a casual Sunday roast.

Bright ruby red, ripe, fruity nose followed by similar sweet, fruity up-front flavours on a light, uncomplicated palate making for a fresh, clean and easy, slip-down drop and one that drinks much better the next day than when first opened. So give it a bit of time and air after opening.

Shows cassis and dark cherry characteristics with a hint of leaf. The oak and skin tannins are very well handled. Good fresh drinking.

A 100 percent Coonawarra cabernet sauvignon at this price makes it a true bargain. Made by John Innes to drink now, its fresh, fruity and soft flavours hit a resounding note.

A one-year old estate grown Cabernet Sauvignon from Coonawarra. The Yearling is a young, lively release that's exceptionally good for its price. The nose is fresh with cherry and cinnamon notes; while the palate is silky, combining dark fruits, a hint of citrus and some spice towards the finish. Looking forward to the 2006 vintage due for release in September.
